Reindeer Lodge

Stay amidst nature and reindeer and with a Sámi touch outside Jukkasjärvi village. Choose between a cosy forest cabin (stohpu) and a comfortable Sámi tent (goahti), or why not a night in a traditional Sámi tent (lávvu)? Nestled in the snow-covered woods and on the banks of river Torne, this small-scale and snug accommodation facility with plenty of space offers an ideal base for your Swedish Lapland winter getaway. The host will make sure you get the best out of your stay in Sápmi and with a little luck, the northern lights can be seen dancing across the night sky directly from the lodge.

Goahti – Modern Sámi tent (3)

Move into a comfortable Sámi tent for a couple of days with an adventurous touch to get a sense of reindeer herding lifestyle, albeit in a slightly arranged and pleasant way. Here we combine the best of glamping and the nomadic Sámi lifestyle in our three brand-new goahti tents. Each goahti is a conical tent room of 20 m² with one-meter-high insulated outer walls which are topped with long wooden poles that form the roof's framework. A high-quality tent canvas that withstands wind, rain and snow encases the roof's framework and thus creates a real close-to-nature experience.

The goahti tent is raised a bit above the ground and has insulated wooden floor. It is furnished with a double bed (1.40 m x 2.00 m), wood-burning stove, modern oil stove, chairs and table, as well as a sofa bed (1.20 m x 1.80 m) that can accommodate up to two children. A small sanitary room with combustion toilet and wash hand basin is built into the goahti for comfort reasons. There is access to separate refrigerator. The interior features Sámi design and natural materials. Candle lights enhance the lovely cosiness in this special type of lodging even more. Breakfast is served in the morning for a good start to the day. Winter outerwear set is included.

Lávvu – Traditional Sámi tent (2)

Go back to the roots and stay a night in a lávvu, a traditional Sámi tent used by the nomadic mountain reindeer herding Sámi people year around during the past, and still in use by some the during bare ground season! The lávvu is a portable conical tent dwelling with the ground floor covered with birch branches and big reindeer hides stretched across. Long wooden poles meeting at the top make up the tent's framework that is wrapped with durable canvas. In the middle of the lávvu there is a wood-burning stove as heat source and for cosiness. You sleep on a mattress made of soft reindeer skins, curled up in a warm thermal sleeping bag. The inner tent rákkas provides protection against condensation and extra insulation, and through the tent canvas you can hear the reindeer's clicking sound and creaking footsteps in the snow. This is for the adventurers who like simplicity and hands-on challenges: you need to maintain the fire all night long. Warm blankets, the glow of an oil lamp and hot drink from a vacuum jug contribute to an exciting night you will not forget in a hurry. Access to locker, electricity, refrigerator, and warm spaces separately. Breakfast is served in the morning for a good start to the day. Winter outerwear set is included.

Stohpu – Sámi forest cabin (5)

Make a cosy cabin a resting place during your holidays. Our five wooden cabins in Sámi design are inspired by the reindeer herder cabins that are used within reindeer husbandry. Each cabin is like a large room of 20 m² which is equipped with a double bed (1.60 x 2.00 m), wood-burning stove, electrical heaters, refrigerator, chairs and table. Four out of five cabins are also furnished with a sofa bed (1.60 x 1.80 m) that can accommodate another adult and a child, alt two children. The cabin is decorated with elements and designs from nature and the Sámi culture and is a great accommodation in the woods. Breakfast is served in the morning for a good start to the day.

Facilities

WC, shower/sauna, dining room/lounge tent and guest kitchen/service hut are in separate common facilities located a few meters from the accommodations.

Breakfast is served in the lounge tent where you can sit down in comfortable sofas and armchairs from afternoon until late to socialise, read a book or just to be. Light meals, hot drinks, beer and wine can be ordered in the lounge's evening bar.

A fully equipped guest kitchen and a griddle pan as well as a barbecue area are available for those who want to cook their own food.

The sanitary spaces include bathrooms with WC, single-sex shower and changing rooms and a wood-fired, mixed sauna.

See, do & eat

During winter, Reindeer Lodge is also home to our reindeer, hence the name. Our reindeer graze near the accommodations and we support feed them to help them survive severe grazing conditions. Depending on the snow situation and the progress of the winter, more reindeer will move in successively and become appreciated residents.

Here at Reindeer Lodge, where silence rules supreme, spruce trees are weighed down by snow and the reindeer saunter by at their own pace, the opportunity for activities for the nature lover is great. Make the most out of your stay by exploring the surroundings during a snowshoe hike or a ski trip on your own, booking one of our reindeer sled tours, taking a sauna, and enjoying a refreshing aurora walk. In the village of Jukkasjärvi, the church, Icehotel and the open-air museum Márkanbáiki can be visited. Do not miss dropping by Café Sápmi if you want to have lunch, fika and a cup of coffee. Our dinner option Árrangáddis is served there too, 19.00-21.00, against pre-booking only.

Reindeer Lodge is perfect for travellers who look for a unique and Sámi speciality lodging a bit away from it all, but still easily accessible by car. Reindeer Lodge is situated only 15 km from Kiruna Airport and 3 km outside Jukkasjärvi village. We offer scheduled check-in and out transfer alternatives with minibus against supplement.
